UNDER THE SNOW.

Dear little violet, under the snow,
Whatever you dream there, I fain would know;
Do you hear the rustle of coming spring?
Do you feel the sunshine shed from her wing?

Does the swallow's first note thrill you through and through,
Till you wake from the dream and wish it were true?
Do you and the crocus whisper together,
Of the day of the month, and the pleasant weather?

Of the summer that was, of the summers to be,
Of the robin's long pause, and the gnats' mystery?
Oh, I long for the sunbeams to pierce and dissolve
All these drifts of snow—your being above,

For the warm rains to woo you into the light,
For the south-wind to sue you with all its might;
For then will you waken from out your trance,
And bring the forsaken remembrance.

GEORGE MARTIN'S WIFE.

BY AMY RANDOLPH.

"An aunt from the country! Oh, George, I can never endure the infliction!"

Emily Penford paused in her occupation of fastening blue ribbon upon the crown of a jaunty strawbonnet, for Emily was but a milliner's girl, pretty and graceful though she was, and just at present she was doing "extra work," to earn money to buy sundry articles of dress, termed by ladies a "trousseau."

For Emily Penford was engaged to be married, and the stalwart, nobly framed young man who sat beside her, carelessly playing with her spools and scissers, and tape measure, was George Martin, who would hardly at that moment have exchanged places with the Crown Prince of Russia. What though he was but a journeyman carpenter? Didn't he some day look forward to the dignity of a shop of his own? And was he not strong as Vulcan, and handsome as Apollo? And more than this, had not pretty Emily Penford promised to be his wife?

George Martin looked at the gathering cloud on Emily's forehead with considerable perplexity.

"Well, Emmy, I'm sorry myself; I know it would be far more pleasant to live by ourselves, but my poor old uncle is dead and Aunt Bridget is all alone in the world, and I somehow feel as if it were my duty to make a home for the old lady. You see, I am the only relation she has except Cousin Isabella's folks, and they utterly refuse to be burdened with any such piece of antiquity."

"There are a great deal better able to afford it than us," pouted Emily.

"Better able! of course they are, but I've always found through life that it is not alone the 'best able' people who are willing to assume the duties and responsibilities. The matter is plain enough—Isabella and her husband decline to do anything for Aunt Bridget, and I can't see the old lady homeless, or in want, so long as I have a cup to drink, or crust to eat. So I have written to her to come and live with us, as soon as we are married."

"Without consulting me?"

"Without consulting you—for there was no time to be lost, and I knew my little Emily would not fail to acquiesce in what I considered best. There's plenty of room you know, for I have rented a whole floor, and——"

"There will be plenty of room," said Emily, with her cherry-lips compressed in a manner George Martin had never witnessed, and her blue eyes sparkling, with ominous light, "for if your Aunt Bridget comes to live in that house, I never shall."

"Emily! Why my darling——"

"Don't call me your darling," said Emily, impatiently, withdrawing her hand from George's grasp. "A man who wants to burden his wife's home with disagreeable, old-fashioned relations, against her wishes—a man who is so selfishly inconsiderate with regard to his wife's comfort, should be more sparing of his affectionate terms. Of one thing you may be certain, George Martin, I shall not marry you if I have to marry your aunt also."

George looked into the pretty indignant face with the grieved and startled look of one who has unexpectedly found a foul insect in the heart of a rose.

"Emily, I can't give up my old aunt—my mother's only sister, who brought her up, and bestowed more than a paternal care upon her, while quite young."

"Very well, then—of course you are prepared to give me up?"

"Do you mean to say, Emily, after all our affection, the weeks of our engagement, the happy evenings we have spent together, you would cast me away, rather than make the trifling sacrifice I ask? Do you mean that I shall understand you thus, Emily?"

"I do."

"Then I have read your character wrongly, all along; and I suppose our engagement is at an end?"

"I suppose so too," said Emily, trimming off the raveled edges of a ribbon bow, with a hand that never trembled the least."

"Good bye, Emily—I suppose, now, I ought to say Miss Penford."

Honest George went down the stairway with an odd, stunned feeling, soon, alas, to resolve itself into active pain. If the world had suddenly turned itself the wrong way, and the sun unexpectedly risen in the west, he could not have been more puzzled, confused or bewildered. If Emily—the Emily he had deemed so perfectly faultless—was essentially selfish, then the world was a humbug.

He went home to the common, little, third-rate boarding house which he had soon hoped to change for a cozy home of his own. Jenny White, the landlady's step daughter, met him at the door.

"You're too late for tea, George, but I can get you a cup in no time," said Jenny, wistfully. She was a fair, delicate looking girl, with grave brown eyes, and hair brushed smoothly away from an oval face.

"Thank you, Jenny! I feel tired and faint," said George. "But what's the matter? You've been crying!"

"Oh, it's nothing," said Jenny, trying to restrain an involuntary sigh; "only mother is so hard with me, and—and—she said today she could not support me any longer, and I must go out sewing."

"It's a shame," said George warmly.

As Jenny, lightfooted and skillful, moved about setting plates, moving cups, preparing a little supplementary meal for his benefit, he thought how thrifty, and careful, and industrious she was—how the roses on her pretty cheek faded through over-work, and lack of necessary recreation. And he wondered that he had never before observed how pretty Jenny White really was!

"I dread the change very much," said Jennie, meekly, as she poured out George Martin's cup of tea. "My home has not been a very pleasant one, since father died—it breaks my heart to think of having no home!"

If Jenny White had been a heroine of some novel, she would have burst into a storm of grief at this juncture, but as it was, she winked very hard, and kept back the tears!

"Jenny," said George Martin, with a sudden inspiration, "you're a good little girl, and I like you very much. If you'll marry me I'll make a home for you!"

And within just about month of that rainy April evening, Mr. Martin installed Jenny White in the "second floor" he had rented and furnished, with reference to another taste, and looked with a pleasant smile at her bright enraptured face.

"Oh, George, how beautiful this is," she exclaimed, with her brown eyes full of happy brightness. "And how snug—even down to the geranium plants in the window! Dear George, how thoughtful you have been! And I shall be so glad when your Aunt Bridget comes to keep me company in the long days when you are away. Do you think she will like to live with me, George?"

"She would be more than mortal if she did not," said George, looking tenderly down upon the contented little being, and mentally contrasting her with Emily Penford. "People cannot help liking you, Jenny."

"The hot bread is very nice, Jenny, but I like Graham crackers," said Aunt Bridget; "and the hash is seasoned too highly; besides I think there is rye or parched peas, or something in the coffee—I can't drink such trash!"

"I can make you a cup of tea in a minute, Aunt Bridget."

"No, no, child—the tea George buys ain't what I've been accustomed to. And I wish you'd have the coal stove taken out of my room, and an airtight wood put in."

"Yes, Aunt Bridget."

"And Jenny, it's confusion to my head to hear you singing about the house. I wish you'd leave it off."

"I will stop, Aunt Bridget, if it makes your head ache."

"Tain't that alone," sighed the old woman, "but the pisen air of them geranium plant kind o' sets in my lungs!"

Jenny cast a regretful look at her favorite flowers, all flushed with umbels of beautiful scarlet bloom.

"I will send them round, to my step mother if they annoy you, Aunt Bridget," said Jenny, meekly.

And so they lived. Aunt Bridget was oldfashioned, cross and whimsical; in fact, a dail crown of thorns, but she was George's aunt, and not for one instant did Jenny fail in her dutiful forbearance.

Once, Emily Penford meeting young Mrs. Martin in the street with her aunt, went home to have a good laugh at the old lady's expense.

"Such a fright," said Emily—"a poke bonnet, trimmed with snuff colored satin, and a hideous brown pongee dress, without a sign of crinoline! Well, I'm glad I didn't marry George Martin, nor his odious old backwoods aunt! People say she has a good deal of property laid up, but I can't see any symptoms of it."

But the time came when Jenny was destined to be still more severely tried.

Aunt Bridget fell sick, and grew more petulant, irritable and exacting than ever—but when she died, with her head on Jenny's arm, the girl thanked Heaven, that she had been gentle with her to the last!

"Jenny," said George, with dim eyes, "I shall not soon forget this ordeal through which you have passed."

And Jenny was satisfied—to her mind, her husband's approval was the sweetest guerdon she could know!

"Here is Aunt Bridget's 'will,' in a leather pocket book, under her pillow, George—she told me where I should find it," said Jenny, a little while subsequently, "Will you please to take charge of it!"

George glanced over the quaint and formal document with a rather curious smile on his face.

"She leaves you her wardrobe, Jenny, more particularly her brown Pongee dress! An important bequest! Well! poor, old thing, it was all she had to give. Put it in the rag bag, Jenny, or give it to some poverty stricken soul!"

"Indeed, no," said Jenny, reverently folding up the ancient garment, "I'll put it away and keep it for Aunt Bridget's sake!"

"Isabella and her husband will feel very badly, when they learn what an inheritance they have lost," said George Martin, with assumed gravity. "I wonder if they will come to the funeral?"

But nobody followed poor old Aunt Bridget to her grave, in the quiet shadows of Greenwood, except Mr. and Mrs. Martin! The dead leaf fluttered down at last from its feeble hold on the trees of the world, and there were but few to mourn its fall!

Years passed on—and the little round, dimpled faces began to cluster round George Martin's hearth.

"It takes a deal of money to feed five little children," said he cheerily as he counted out the market funds, for his thrifty wife, "but there isn't one of 'em we could spare, eh, Jenny?"

But when, one dreary November evening, he was brought home on a shutter crippled and helpless for months, from a fall from a scaffolding, poor George thought the future looked very unpromising.

"It's for you and the children I'm worrying," he said to his wife; "we haven't laid up a cent, though we've always lived comfortably, and now, Jenny, I don't see what is to become of us."

"Cheer up, George," said the little woman, bravely; "we'll do well enough. I know of a place where they will give vests to make, and I can sew in the evenings!"

"What, sew in the evening, after you have worked hard all day long for me and the children!"

"I shall not mind it, George!" said Jenny. "Dear me, its nothing to the work I used to do before we were married!"

So Jenny kept the household pot boiling by her own individual exertions—made, and mended, and patched and darned with unceasing patience."

"Why, Jenny," said George Martin, as he lay on his couch watching her busy fingers, "surely that is Aunt Bridget's Pongee dress, isn't it?"

Jenny laughed.

"Well, you see little Kate needs a new dress to appear tolerably decent at school, and as we have not the money to buy one, I thought I would just rip up Aunt Bridget's bequest and see what I could do with it.—See—it is quite fresh and bright on the wrong side, a little old fashioned to be sure, but Kate won't mind that."

As Mrs. Martin spoke, she cut the lining away from the skirt with her skillful scissors.

"They made dresses very curiously in old times," said she smiling, "the lining is elaborately quilted in oblong blocks, and see—it is covered with bits of brown paper inside."

"Brown paper! let me see, Jenny," said George, suddenly remembering the numberless eccentricities of his aunt, and vaguely fancying he did not know what,——"why they are really bank-notes, child!"

And they were bank-notes—fives, tens, twenties,—even fifties! The lining of the old Pongee dress was literally covered with them, neatly sewed in, so as to be completely concealed from view. For the last few years of her life, Aunt Bridget had been a walking porte-monnaie, and Jenny no longer marveled at the feverish anxiety she was wont to betray about the brown "gown," as she called it, at night.

"Well, this is curious enough," said George, "we can now account for these fleeting rumors of her wealth which we fancied so erroneous."

"How much is there, George?" questioned the bewildered Jenny.

"There cannot be less than three or four thousand dollars," said her husband, "see—here is a hundred dollar bill close to the pocket!"

"Ah, Jenny, Aunt Bridget had a meaning when she made the will bequeathing to you, her truest friend and tenderest nurse, the old brown Pongee dress! I am glad now that I did not destroy the paper. I wonder what Isabella and her husband will say!"

"George," said Jenny, reverently, "I think God has sent us this money in our time of need. I had not enough left to pay the rent, and I dared not think about the doctor's bill."

The tears of fervent gratitude came into her eyes as she spoke.

Little Kate had a new dress to wear to school, but it was not the brown Pongee. Jennie Martin treasured that up in memory of old Aunt Bridget; while Emily Penford, Cousin Isabella, and that class of people, all exclaimed with one accord:

"Who would have supposed such a thing possible?"

As if fact were not often times far stranger than fiction!

BREAD AND BABIES.

A VERY DOMESTIC ESSAY FROM ARE VOLUTIONARY SOURCE.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton turns her attention away from the more serious question of female rights, and talks about well-bred babies in the last Revolution:

We are constantly asked, if women vote, what will become of the bread and the babies?

In view of the heavy bread, and badly-cooked food we find on most tables, and the shocking mortality among infants, we contemplate with wonder and pity the blind faith of man in the maternal culinary intelligence of the "weak-minded" who have no inspirations beyond Hecker's flour, Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup, and Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machine. Seeing that women have devoted themselves through the ages to domestic economy and failed, as miserably as men have in the art of government, we have, after mature thought, come to the conclusion that just as the woman's enlightened interests in political questions will improve the state, so man's skill and science are necessary to redeem the home from its present disorder, disease and death. If there are two things we thoroughly understand, they are babies and bread, and for our knowledge of both these divine arts we are indebted to philosophical, scientific gentlemen.

The only valuable work we ever saw on Infancy, was written by a man, Andrew Combe, of Scotland, a close observer, a sound thinker, and a learned physiologist. We shall never forget how tempest-tossed we were when we first found ourself the happy possessor of a man child without the slightest knowledge of what to do for his comfort and protection. An ignorant nurse fidgeted round the room day and night, sang melancholy ditties, and rocked vehemently, while the child cried continually with a loud voice, and we wept, prayed, and philosophized by turns. Reasoning on general principles, we at last came to the conclusion that inasmuch as the child was large and vigorous, there must be some mistake on the part of the nurse that he was not quiet and comfortable. Accordingly we fortified ourself in that opinion by a faithful reading of what Mr. Combe had to say on babies in general. The result of this consideration of his opinions was a prompt revolution in the whole nursery department, and a transfer of pain from the baby to the nurse, who stood humbled and chagrined as she saw her time-honored system summarily set aside—the pills, paregoric, catmit, and cradle driven out, while pure air, sunlight and common sense walked in. Oh! what sighs, what groans, what doubtful shakings of the head, what suppressed laughter and whisperings in the hall we heard during the first few days after the inauguration of that dynasty of health, happiness and rest to that new born soul.

When the three hours' cry begun that day, which ancient dames assured us was a custom that had been faithfully kept by all the sons of Adams from time immemorial, we ordered the little sufferer to be promptly stripped to the skin and put in a warm bath; that brought instant relief, after which he was dressed in a few light garments hung on the shoulders, with no swaddling bands, no pressure on the lungs or bowels, and laid down to sleep. He was fed (according to Combe) every two hours by day, and but once during the night. After that we had peace, though internal vigilance on our part was its price. The custom of pinning babies up as tight as a drum is both cruel and absurd. We asked the antiquarian who tortored our first-born in that way, why she did it? "The bones of young babies are so soft and their flesh so tender," said she, "that they are in constant danger of dissolution unless tightly pinioned together." We soothed her fears by pointing to the fact that colts and calves, puppies and kittens, all lived and flourished without bandages, and, for the benefit of the race, we said we would make the experiment on one of the human family.

If babies are regularly fed, bathed and comfortably clothed, and in a pure atmosphere, they will be quiet and healthy. The ignorance of women on these subjects is truly lamentable. We have seen children a year old that had never tasted water, when they should have it half a dozen times every day from the hour of their birth. We have found fathers who have worked hard all day complain bitterly of being disturbed at night by crying children; hence the common use of Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup, which only tends to increase the irritable condition of the nervous system, and permanently weaken the brain.

Young mothers no doubt imagine that this Mrs. Winslow is some experienced, humane old lady, who loves little children knows just how to soothe them to sleep and pilot them through all the pitfalls of infancy, when, in fact, this abominable syrup is compounded by some ignorant man, in whiskers, broadcloth and boots, who lives and fattens on his ill-gotten gains, while babies are sent by hundreds to untimely graves or made idiots or lunatics for life.

THREE things to govern—Temper, tongue and conduct.

COMFORTING THE COCKLES OF THE HEART.

Sitting in a station the other day, I had a little sermon preached to me in the way I like; and I'll report it for your benefit, because it taught one of the beautiful lessons which we all should learn, and taught it in such a natural, simple way, that no one could forget it. It was a bleak snowy day; the train was late; the ladies'-room dark and smoky; and the dozen women, old and young, who sat waiting impatiently, all looked cross, low-spirited, or stupid. I felt all three; and thought, as I looked round, that my fellow-beings were a very unamiable and uninteresting set.

Just then, a forlorn old woman, shaking with palsy, came in with a basket of little wares for sale, and went about mutely offering them to the sitters. Nobody bought anything, and the poor old soul stood blinking at the door a minute, as if reluctant to go out into the bitter storm again. She turned presently, and poked about the room, as if trying to find something; and then a pale lady in black, who lay as if asleep, on a sofa, opened her eyes, saw the old woman, and instantly asked, in a kind tone, "Have you lost anything, ma'am?"

"No, dear. I'm alooking for the heatin'-place, to have a warm 'fore I goes out agin. My eyes is poor, and I don't seem to find the furnace nowheres."

"Here it is;" and the lady led her to the steam radiator, placed a chair, and showed her how to warm her feet.

"Well, now; ain't that nice?" said the old woman, spreading her ragged mittens to dry. "Thanky, dear; this is proper comfortable, ain't it? I'm most froze today, bein' lame and wimbly; and not sellin' much, makes me sort of downhearted."

The lady smiled, went to the counter, bought a cup of tea and some sort of food, carried it herself to the old woman, and said, as respectfully and kindly as if the poor soul had been dressed in silk and fur, "Won't you have a cup of hot tea? It's very comforting such a day as this."

"Sakes alive! Do they give tea in this depot?" cried the old lady, in a tone of innocent surprise, that made a smile go round the room, touching the glummest face like a streak of sunshine. "Well, now, this is jest lovely," added the old lady, sipping away with a relish. "This does warm the cockles of my heart."

While she refreshed herself, telling her story meanwhile, the lady looked over the poor little wares in the basket, bought soap and pins, shoe-strings and tape, and cheered the poor soul by paying well for them.

As I watched her doing this, I thought what a sweet face she had, though I'd considered her rather plain before. I felt dreadfully ashamed of myself, that I had grimly shaken my head when the basket was offered to me; and, as I saw a look of interest, sympathy, and kindliness come into the dismal faces all round me, I did wish that I had been the magician to call it out. It was only a kind word and a friendly act; but somehow, it brightened that dingy room wonderfully. It changed the faces of a dozen women; and, I think it touched a dozen hearts, for I saw many eyes follow the plain, pale lady with sudden respect; and when the old woman, with many thanks, got up to go, several persons beckoned to her, and bought something, as if they wanted to repair their first negligence.

Old beggar-women are not romantic; neither are cups of tea, boot-lacings, and colored soap;—there were no gentlemen present to be impressed by the lady's kind act; so, it wasn't done for effect, and no possible reward could be received for it, except the ungrammatical thanks of a ragged old woman. But that simple little charity was as good as a sermon to those who saw it; and I think each traveller went on her way, better for that half-hour in the dreary station. I can testify that one of them did; and nothing but the emptiness of her purse prevented her from "comforting the cockles of the heart" of every forlorn old woman she met for a week after.

HOW TO KNOW A GOOSE.—"Mother, mother!" cried a young rook, returning hurriedly from its first flight, "I'm so frightened! I've seen such a sight!"

"What sight, my son?" asked the rook.

"Oh, white creatures, screaming and running, and straining their necks, and holding their heads ever so high! See, mother, there they go!"

"Geese, my son, merely geese," calmly replied the parent bird, looking over the common. "Through life, child, observe that when you meet any one who makes a great fuss about himself, and tries to lift his head higher than the rest of the world, you may set him down at once for a goose!"

A VERY GOOD LITTLE BOY.—Little Walter Craper is a very good little boy according to all rules laid down for very good little boys. Last Sunday he asked his mother to go down to the Gould & Curry Reservoir, which his mother refused, it being the Sabbath. Good little boys sometimes cry a little, and Walter began blubbering.

"Why, Walter," cried his mother, "I am astonished! The idea of you wishing to go down to the reservoir on the Lord's holy Sabbath, to go a swimming with a lot of bad little boys!"

"Boo Boo!" blubbers Walter, "I didn't want to go swimmin' with 'em ma; I only wanted to go down and see the bad little boys get drowned for goin' a swimmin' a Sunday—boo boo!"

A SERVANT girl in Nashville was tried and convicted for stealing a diamond ring from her employer. Notwithstanding her constant declarations of innocence and her bitter tears at the disgrace, she was sent to jail on merely circumstantial evidence. A week afterward her employer, while putting on a pair of boots which he had not worn for several days, felt something in one of them, and upon an examination he discovered his "stolen" ring. The girl was immediately released from jail, but what can recompense her for the indignity she has suffered?

"JOB PRINTING!" exclaimed an old lady the other day, as she peered over her spectacles at the advertising page of a country newspaper. "Poor Job! they've kept him printing week after week ever since I first learnt to read; and if he wasn't the most patientest man that ever was, he never could have stood it so long, nohow."

A MODERN Amazon, on her way to a convention, asked for a seat in a crowded car. An old gentleman, with keen eyes, inquired, "Be you one of the women righters?" "I be," answered the undaunted heroine. "Do you believe that a woman has the same rights as a man?" "I do," (emphatically.) "Well, then, stand up and enjoy 'em like a man."

AN American travelling in Europe, asked a German lady if he might help her to a broiled partridge.

"Nine!" (No) the lady replied.

"Nine? My dear madam, I am sorry that I cannot accomodate you, for there are only six in the dish, but you can have them to begin with."

AN editor wrote a leading article on the fair sex in the course of which he said:

"Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of beaus."

When the paper was issued, he was rather shocked to discover that an unfortunate typographical error had made him say:

"Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of beans."

A LITTLE girl dressing for the first time noticed her shoulder blade, came running in one day and said, "Oh, Aunt Mary, I guess I'll be an angel soon, for my wing bones are beginning to grow."

DON'T LIKE IT.

The Copperhead leaders don't like the ugly developments made by their stool-pigeons in regard to the election frauds in Philadelphia and New York at the last elections. They object to the witnesses, denounce them as "perjured scoundrels," and find fault with their pedigree. To all which the Lancaster Examiner pertinently answers that these "repeaters," thus used to debauch the elective francise, are doubtless of the worst class of jail-birds; were they anything else they could not have been so easily procured by Democratic managers to do the dirty work of the party. But they are nevertheless first-class Democrats, and of course should be gentlemen, even if they do vote the party ticket twenty times in one day. Just now they are not regarded as very high minded, or as "honorable gentlemen," and simply because they told all about the frauds perpetrated by them. It is all right to vote "early and often," but it is all wrong to swear to it. These New York and Philadelphia Democrats obeyed the party order to "vote often," and were then considered reliable and worthy men; but when a court of justice compels them to swear to the truth or go to prison for perjury, and they elect to do the former, they degenerate into "perjured scoundrels."

The truth is these election frauds are accomplished by a regularly organized party called "repeaters." This organization exists in all large cities. In New York the organization numbers eighteen hundred men, who vote just as often as their votes are wanted to make the Democratic success certain. At the last election in New York the repeaters refused to do work for Tammany Hall unless they received one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This amount they received, and then went to work, and New York was carried for Seymour and Blair and Hoffman.

COUNTING THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

The Senate and Hous of Representatives met in joint session on Wednesday to count the electoral vote for President and Vice President of the United States. The floor and galleries of the House of Representatives were crowded by a large audience. Messrs. Senator Conkling and Representatives Pruyn and Wilson, of Iowa, acted as tellers, and announced the votes of each State as follows: For Grant and Colfax—Massachusetts, 12; Rhode Island, 4; Connecticut, 6; Vermont, 5; Pennsylvania, 26; North Carolina, 9; South Carolina, 6; Tennessee, 10; Ohio, 21; Indiana, 13; Illinois, 16; Alabama, 8; Maine, 7; Missouri, 11; Arkansas, 5; Michigan, 8; Florida, 3; Wisconsin, 8; Iowa, 8; California, 5; Minnesota, 4; Kansas, 3; West Virginia, 5; Nevada, 3; Nebraska, 3. For Seymour and Blair—New York, 33; New Jersey, 7; Maryland, 7; Delaware, 3; Kentucky, 11; Louisiana, 7; Oregon, 3; Georgia, 9.

Objection being made to the counting of the votes of Louisana and Georgia, the Senate and House retired to consider the objections, as provided by the rules. Both Senate and House agreed to count the vote of Louisiana, but differed as to Georgia—the Senate agreeing to count and the House voting to exclude. The two Houses differing, the presiding officer of the joint convention, Senator Wade, ruled in favor of counting the vote of Georgia, under the joint resolution of Mr. Edmunds, passed a few days ago. This closes up the official declaration of the result of the Presidential election. The next move will be the inauguration of Gen. Grant, and the retirement of Mr. Johnson.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Committee met in Harrisburg on the 4th inst., and after a full interchange of opinion adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the next Union Republican State Convention shall be held in the city of Philadelphia on Wednesday, the 23d day of June next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Governor and Judge of the Supreme Court.

This will give us a short and sharp campaign, which will be all the better. There was a large attendance of the members of the Committee, all of whom represented the prospects bright for a decided Republican triumph next fall, in re-affirmance of the last November's verdict. The following preamble and resolutions were also adopted:

WHEREAS, Vigorous economy has been made a cardinal principle of the Republican party: therefore,

Resolved, That we do sincerely desire that all persons occupying an official position shall have a due respect for the same in all their actions, believing that the future success of our party depends largely upon the strict observance of that principle.

ON Wednesday of last Week a Bill was reported in the State Senate supplementary to the bill for the reorganization of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, which passed under a suspension of the rules, was sent to the House, passed there, was returned to the Senate, and was signed by the Governor, all within thirty minutes! The object of the bill was to keep the New York and Erie Railroad company from getting possession of this road, by preventing at the next annual election the selection of new members to constitute more than one-fourth of the Board of Directors. The Pennsylvania Central and the New York & Erie are playing a bold game for the control of the leading Western roads. The Pennsylvania recently headed off the New York Company in negotiation with the Pittsburg, Columbus and Chicago road, the New York & Erie men sent an agent to Europe to buy up enough of stock in the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago, now under the control of the Pennsylvania Central, to oust the management at the next election. The above bill is to checkmate this last move. Pretty sharp work.

GREAT preparations are being made for a grand Odd Fellow demonstration in Philadelphia, on the 26th of April next, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of the United States, being the 50th anniversary of the establishment of Odd Fellowism in America. Every Grand Lodge in the United States will be represented, and numerous subordinate Lodges. A procession will be one of the features, and it is estimated that 70,000 Odd Fellows will be in line.—Committees have been appointed to secure a reduction in railroad fares and hotel charges.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The United States Senate remained in session during the whole of Monday night discussing the Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution. The Republicans were resolved to bring the Senate to a vote, and the Democrats, bent upon delaying action. Mr. Davis exhausted even his immense garrulity in the wasting of time. Mr. Doolittle made no less than four speeches, and other Democratic Senators assisted in the effort to wear out the patience of the Republicans. Finding the effort useless, at eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning a recess was taken with the understanding that a vote on the various propositions should be taken at one o'clock. At that hour the subject was resumed and the pending amendments submitted by Messrs. Wilson, Fowler and Sawyer, were each successively rejected. A resolution offered by Mr. Vickers, restoring the elective franchise to those excluded by reason of participation in the rebellion, was also rejected by a vote of—yeas 21, nays 32; Messrs. Ferry, Grimes, Harlan, Morton, Pomeroy, Rice, Sawyer, Trumbull, Van Winkle and Wilson (Republicans), voting with the minority. After further discussion the amendments proposed by Senators Wilson and Morton were adopted, and on a final vote, by yeas 41, nays 16 ten Senators being absent or not voting, the Senate adopted the following proposed amendments:

ARTICLE XV.

No discrimination shall be made in the United States among the citizens of the United States in the exercise of the elective franchise, or in the right to hold office in any State, on account of race, color or nativity, property, education or creed.

ARTICLE XVI.

The second clause, first section, of the second article of the Constitution of the United States shall be amended to read as follows:

Each State shall appoint, by a vote of the people thereof qualified to vote for Representatives in Congress, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of profit or trust under the United States shall be appointed an elector; and the Congress shall have power to prescribe the manner in which such electors shall be chosen by the people.

The joint resolution now goes back to the House for concurrence or rejection.

THE Georgia Rebels need re-construction. They don't seem to have learned much by the War and are as defiant as ever. Uupon the meeting of the Legislature, some months ago, the Unionists had a majority, but enough weak-kneed Republicans united with the Rebel element to pass a resolution depriving all the colored members of their seats. This left the Rebels in a majority, and they have since used their power unsparingly. The Unionists saw their error too late, but are now powerless. This bold defiance of the spirit of the Reconstruction acts is having its fruits at Washington. The Georgia Senators and Representatives having been standing out in the cold all winter, Congress being disposed to put the State on further probation.—Some of the Democrats in the Georgia Legislature are disposed to take the back track, but not so the Rebel majority. Last Saturday, they voted down two resolutions—one pledging the members of both branches of the General Assembly to abide by the decision of the Supreme Court in regard to the eligibility of negroes to hold office—the other requiring members of the General Assembly, officers and clerks, to answer under oath whether they held office prior to the war under the United States, or during the war under the Confederate Government, served in the army or gave donations to the Confederacy.—Congress will probably bring these blatant Rebels to terms, as soon as GRANT gets into power.

AT the last October election GREENBACK, Democrat, was returned as elected Associate Justice of the District Court of Philadelphia by a small majority over Judge THAYER, Republican. Mr. Greenback having the return was sworn in and has been sitting as one of the Judges of the District Court. In consequence of the gross frauds practiced at the October election, the friends of Judge THAYER determined to contest the election, and upon petition filed the Legislature appointed the usual Committee of investigation. However, preliminary to the contest, the Committee ordered a recount of the ballots. On Friday last the ballot-boxes were opened, and on reaching that of the 16th division of the 20th ward, it was found there had been A FRAUDULENT RETURN. The Return Judges had certified a majority of 66 for Greenback in the 16th division while the ballots count a majority of 13 for Thayer! As this correction alone sweeps away Greenback's alledged majority, he will have to vacate in favor of Thayer. The latter is one of the most accomplished lawyers at the Philadelphia bar, and a gentleman of great purity of character. It will be recollected that he delivered the address at the laying of the corner stone of "Stevens Hall," in Gettysburg, in 1867.

ON Thursday of last week, the lower branch of Congress was the scene of another discreditable display of blackguardism. During the consideration of the Indian Appropriation Bill, Mr. Holbrook, who claims the honor of representing the Democratic plugs and shoulder-hitters of Idaho, charged Gen. BUTLER with deliberate and knowing falsehood. Speaker COLFAX promptly called him to order, when he insolently put the House at defiance by announcing that he had nothing to retract. The result was the prompt passage of a resolution of censure.—HOLBROOK was ordered to the front of the Speaker's stand, and quietly took the sharp reprimand administered by Mr. COLFAX. His conduct was so defiant and without excuse that not a Democratic member dared to utter a word in behalf of their Idaho brother.

THE telegraph brings news from Spain that the Provisional Government, which has supplanted Queen Isabella, is about to present to the Cortes or Parliament a new Constitution, of which the great feature will be the abolition of slavery throughout the Spanish dominions. This will include Cuba, Porto Rico, and other West India islands which have been the very focus of the slave trade. The logical results of the late Slave-holder's Rebellion are being felt the world ever.—The crushing out of the Slave oligarchy in the United States ensures the striking of shackles from the limbs of the Slave everywhere. Spain thus peaceably reaps the golden fruits of our bloody sowing. Brazil and Portugal will follow the beneficent example, and within ten years from the emancipation of American slaves it may yet come about that not a single slave shall darken the light of Christendom.

IT seems to be generally conceded that a session of the 41st Congress, of several weeks duration, commencing on the 4th of March, will be held to finish up important legislation. The Tax and Tariff bills, with some other important questions, will have to go over, there not being enough time to dispose of them before the 4th of March, when the term of the present Congress expires.

WIEN FORNEY, Esq., of Harrisburg, has been re-appointed State Librarian for three years by Gov. Geary, and confirmed by the Senate.

HON. WM. H. KOONTZ will accept our thanks for various public documents.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—A man named Hoster, living on the outskirts of Hannibal, Mo., murdered his daughter, aged 10 years, on Saturday, by strangling her with a strap. He then cut her body in two, tore out her heart and cut it open, and swallowed the blood. He was arrested, and when questioned proved to be insane.

FESTUS CAMPBELL, a colored man of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, can speak six or eight different languages correctly and fluently. He has traveled in Europe a number of seasons, and but recently returned from a trip through Italy, Syria, the Holy Land, and Egypt. He has acquired by his own exertions a comfortable fortune. The Democratic town authorities recently struck his name off the list of jurors because he was a "nigger."

DEATH FROM HYDROPHOBIA.—A little son of Reuben Myers, of Shirley township, Huntington county, about six years of age, died on the 12th ult., from the effects of this terrible disease, under the most painful and distressing circumstances. About a month previous to the attack, the lad, when on a visit to his grandfather's, in the same neighborhood, was bitten by a rabid cat, while in the act of reaching under an old stable for eggs, the animal fastening upon his hand, and maintaining its hold till drawn out. The cat was killed shortly afterwards, but no suspicion was entertained of its having been mad, till after the boy was taken ill, when the unmistakable symptoms of this horrible malady made their appearance. He lingered some four days, after being attacked, in untold agony, when death ended his sufferings.

A DASTARDLY attempt was made to set fire to the building occupied as the Home for Friendless Children, in the City of Lancaster, on Tuesday evening last. About eight o'clock some one entered the front door and proceeding to the front sitting room, deposited in the centre of the floor a ball of rags saturated with coal oil or some other inflammable liquid, and set fire to it. The matron, Miss Spence, immediately afterward entered the room, just in time to gather up the blazing ball and cast it in the stove. The carpet was burned through and the floor slightly charred. But for the timely arrival of the matron a fearful calamity would probably have ensued. The children, of whom there are about two hundred in the institution, had nearly all retired to bed and many were sound asleep. Suspicion fell upon a girl inmate, named Ellen Doyle, 14 years of age, who first denied all knowledge of the matter, but subsequently confessed that she had not only made this attempt, but also a similar one during the last ten days. She was committed for trial.

TWO GREAT AMERICANS.

Abraham Lincoln and General Grant.

Mr. Lincoln is sometimes claimed as an example of ready made rule. But no case could well be less in point; for, besides that he was a man of such fair-mindness as is always the raw material of wisdom, he had in his profession a training precisely the opposite of that to which a partisan is subjected. His experience as a lawyer compelled him not only to see that there is a principle underlying every phenomenon in human affairs, but that there are always two sides to every question, both of which must be fully understood in order to understand either, and that it is a greater advantage to an advocate to appreciate the strength than the weakness of his antagonist's position. Nothing is more remarkable than the unerring tact with which in his debate with Mr. Douglass, he went straight to the reason of the question; nor have we ever had a more striking lesson in political tactics than the fact that, opposed to a man exceptionally adroit in using popular prejudice and bigotry to his purpose, exceptionally unscrupulous in appealing to those baser motives that turn a meeting of citizens into a mob of barbarains, he should yet have won his case before a jury of the people. Mr. Lincoln was as far as possible from an impromptu politician. His wisdom was made up of a knowledge of things as well as of men; his sagacity resulted from a clear perception and honest acknowledgement of difficulties, which enabled him to see that the only durable triumph of political opinion is based, not on any abstract right, but upon so much of justice, the highest attainable at any given moment in human affairs, as may be had in the balance of mutual concession. Doubtless he had an ideal, but it was the ideal of a practical statesman—to aim at the best, and to take the next best, if he is lucky enough to get even that. His slow but singularly masculine intelligence, taught him that precedent is only another name for embodied experience, and that it counts for even more in the guidance of communities of men than in that of the individual life. He was not a man who held it good public economy to pull down on the mere chance of rebuilding a better. Mr. Lincoln's faith in God was qualified by a very well-founded distrust of the wisdom of man. Perhaps it was his want of self-confidence that more than anything else won him the unlimited confidence of the people, for they felt that there would be no need to retreat from any position he had deliberately taken. The cautious, but steady advance of his policy during the war was like that of a Roman army. He left behind him a firm road on which public confidence could follow; he took America with him where he went; what he gained he occupied, and his advanced posts became colonies. The very homeliness of his genius was its distinction. His kingship was conspicuous by its workday homespun. Never was a ruler so absolute as he, nor so little conscious of it; for he was the incarnate common sense of the people. With all that tenderness of nature whose sweet sadness touched whoever saw him with something of its own pathos, there was no trace of sentimentalism in his speech or action. He seems to have had but one rule of conduct, always that of practical and successful politics, to let himself be guided by events, when they were sure to bring him out where he wished to go, though by what seemed to unpractical minds, which let go the possible to grasp at the desirable, a long road.

We look forward with well grounded confidence to the administration of Gen. Grant. Elected, it may be truly said, in spite of both parties, but in sympathy with the more judicious of the party of progress, he will be independent of the extremists, whether of blind advance or blinder reaction.—Knowing by the most thorough experience the men he has conquered and the men he has led, he will know how to deal firmly with the one side and to moderate the other. As a soldier, he has been schooled to look forward to remote results rather than to be over-confident in immediate successes. He has shown an indomitable persistency in plans well considered and justified by good fortune. He has chosen his lieutenants with instinctive felicity, and done justice to their merit with almost unexampled magnanimity. He possesses beyond most men that virtue of moderation which so many American politicians eschew as unpopular. Above all he has an almost heroic gift of silence, which prevents him from allowing himself to be dragged from his course by the strong current of eloquence, and afterwards feeling bound to sacrifice his sense of what is prudent to the tyranny of his own consistency. We think that his administration will disappoint those only who believe that words are more potent than things in the conduct of states and in lasting influence on the conduct of men.—North American Review.

[From the Pulaski (Tennessee) Citizen, Jan. 29.]

AN ENRAGED BROTHER SHOOTS HIS SISTER'S INTENDED HUSBAND.—We have learned the particulars of a tragic affair which occured near Cornersville, in this county, a few days ago. A young man wooed and won the hand of a young lady whose brother was violently opposed to the match, and who swore they never should marry. The heroic though perhaps misguided young lady, yielding to the persuasive arguments of love, consented to an elopement. Accordingly, they clandestinely repaired to a neigboring house to consummate their ardent desire. But the resolute and desperate brother was upon their track, and just as the happy couple were on the floor, about to be made one, a ball from his pistol penetrated a vital part of the bridegroom's body, and he fell in the arms of the devoted girl, who, true to him in death, assisted by friends, conveyed him to the bed, where, at her request, the ceremony was finished, she exclaiming that she "had rather mourn a dead husband than a dead lover." In a few minutes the newly-made husband expired. The destroyer of his sister's happiness has not been seen since he fired the fatal shot.

JOHN W. VANNATTA has been arested at Fort Wayne, Indiana, charged with having caused the death of his wife's sister. It is stated that in April last Vannatta was married to a Miss Horn, in opposition to the wishes of her parents. On the night of the wedding all the guests assembled were taken sick after partaking of refreshments, and the sister of the bride died in consequence. Recently Vannatta proposed to elope with another young lady, and in one of his letters to her confessed that he had poisoned the coffee served to his wedding guests.

HON. Galusha A. Grow was seriously burned in the cars at Beach Haven, Pennsylvania, on Friday last. The train upon which he was traveling ran off the track.

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

CUMBERLAND.—The Carlisle Herald says considerable excitement exists in that place consequent upon the death of Miss Maria H. Stennecke, a resident of the city of Baltimore, who died at the Mansion House, on Thursday evening, the 28th ultimo. Miss Stennecke came to Carlisle, about six months ago, having been accustomed to visit that place at various times. She was a lady about 70 years of age, and was afflicted with disease. She made the acquaintance of Dr. P. Schoeppe, a young German physician, who arrived in this country some six months ago, and who settled for the practice of his profession in Carlisle. Dr. Schoeppe was her attending physician until the hour of her death, making the usual professional visits quite frequently. Miss Stennecke acquired a valuable estate from Dr. Stennecke of Baltimore city, who died some years ago. The estate is valued between $40,000 and $50,000, consisting principally of landed property in Baltimore City. On Wednesday afternoon the 27th ult., Miss Stennecke was taken very ill, and summoned the Dr. to her relief, but died the next day, having been insensible from the time Dr. S. was called in. Her remains were taken to Baltimore. An examination of her papers in the possession of Wm. H. Miller, Esq., developed a Will dated Nov. 17, 1868, in which there was a bequest of $3,000 to Princeton College, $2500 to the American Bible Society $1250 to Washington Jefferson College, $2500 to the American Tract Society, with other similar bequests—the Methodist and Presbyterian Boards of Publication being made residuary legatees. This will was probated in Baltimore on Monday after her death. Immediately after, Dr. Schoeppe presented to the Court another Will dated in December, in his own hand-writing, attested by himself and father, giving the entire estate to Dr. S. The Herald says the matter has developed a good deal of excitement, and numerous reports are in circulation, of a startling character. There will be a contest over the two Wills.

WASHINGTON.—On the night of Jan. 29, two horses valued at $400, were stolen from the stable of Thomas C. Crompton, residing two miles west of Burkittsville; they were subsequently found in the possession of a farmer residing near Middleburg, Carroll county, he having bought them of two men representing themselves as drovers; the thieves escaped.

YORK.—On the 30th ult., in Hanover, a mule team ran off, the driver, a lad named Wm. Masenheimer, aged 15 years, being thrown on to the tongue between the mules; after running several squares the team was stopped and the lad rescued from his perilous position, but slightly injured.—Last Thursday evening, in Logansville, two wagons, one driven by George Hartman and the other by Michael Hartman, came in collision; an angry quarrel ensued which terminated by George Hartman with a club crushing in the skull of Albert D. Hartman, son of Michael, causing his death the same night. The murderer was arrested and is now in jail. All the parties were distant relatives, both the murderer and murdered man being about 23 years of age.—Several weeks ago, Rev. Jacob Ziegler, of York, (formerly of Gettysburg,) was presented with a buggy, a set of harness, and a buffalo robe, by the congregations to whom he ministers, his wife receiving a handsome dress, with presents for other members of the family.

THE REMAINS OF MRS. SURRATT.

The Washington Star of Monday says: By order of the President, the remains of Mrs. Surratt will to-day be disinterred at the Arsenal and delivered to her friends. The understanding is that there shall be no public demonstration over the remains, and whatever funeral ervice takes place shall be private. She was, it will be recollected, convicted by the Military Commission of which General Hunter was President, at the Arsenal, in the summer of 1865, of being one of the conspirators for the assassination of President Lincoln, on the 4th of April of that year, and suffered death by hanging, in accordance with the sentence of the commission, in the Arsenal grounds, on the 6th of July following. Immediately after the execution, her remains, with those of Payne, Harold and Atzerodt, executed at the same time, were placed in common boxes and interred near the scaffold, her body being at the North end of the row, and the others adjoining her remains in the order named above. The body of Booth was also buried near there; that is inside the old penitentiary building. The burial of Booth was quietly made in the presence of Secretary Stanton, General Lafayette C. Baker and two of his officers, and Colonel Benton, Commandant of the Arsenal; and after the grave had been filled and a portion of the bricks relaid over it, the windows of the wareroom were boarded up and the door locked, Secretary Stanton taking the key. The body of Wirz, the Andersonville jailer, was placed in the yard adjoining the body of Atzerodt. For some time the bodies were allowed to remain in this position. In the fall of 1867, when the demolition of the Penitentiary building was determined on, it became necessary to remove the bodies, and they were buried in the warehouse known as No. 1 the bodies being placed under the flagging. There the bodies of all have remained until to-day. The locality of the last place of burial had been carefully concealed.

BY comparative statement of the public debt of January 1, 1869, with that due on the 1st of February, it appears that there has been an increase of $14,700 in the debt bearing coin interest; increase in the debt bearing currency interest of $1,545,000; decrease in the matured debt not presented for payment of $552,567; increase in the debt bearing no interest of $6,981,911,90; increase in Pacific Railroad bonds, $1,920,000, showing an increase of total debt since January 1st of $9,846,014.90. The amount of coin in the Treasury decreased during the month $10,030,652.47; currency increased $4,378,240.54 showing an increase of public debt over last month, less cash in the Treasury, of $15,498,456.83.

SAD DROWNING CASE.—Two boys aged respectively 14 years, were drowned, on Friday afternoon, in the mill pond of Messrs. Shivers & Peak, near Bridgeboro, N. J. They left home in the morning for school, taking their skates with them, and during the noon recess, went to the pond to skate. Not returning when the school was called for the afternoon session, the teacher became alarmed for their safety, and a search was immediately instituted, when a break was discovered in the ice. Hooks were put in the hole, and the bodies of the unfortunates—named Fillmore Thomson, son of Mr. William Thomson, a farmer residing near the village, and Joseph Scott, the son of a widow living in Philadelphia—were recovered. This should prove a warning to boys to be careful how they venture upon the ice.

A YOUNG LADY BURNED TO DEATH.—Miss Elizabeth Rhinehart, an estimable young lady of Dayton, Ohio, was so shockingly burned by reason of her clothes taking fire from a parlor stove, Saturday forenoon, that she died from her injuries. The leg of the stove came out, and Miss Rhinehart caught hold of the lower rim to raise and hold it until a lad, who was assisting her, could replace the leg. The stove was very hot, and her dress caught fire, and she was enveloped in flames before she was fairly aware of it! She was frightened and bewildered, and rushed out of doors, and before Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] could put out the fire, she was most dreadfully burned, her skin being roasted to a crisp from her knees up to her head!

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—In 1830 the Order extended in six States and the District of Columbia, and comprised over 3,000 members. In 1840 there were lodges in twenty-one States and Territories, with eleven thousand members, and in 1850 the organization had augmented to 175,000 members, in 2,350 subordinate lodges. The Order under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of the United States now numbers about 300,000 contributing members, comprised in 3,300 lodges, and located in every State and Territory in the Union, in the Canadian Dominion, in British Columbia, in Australia and the islands of the ocean. The various branches of the family of Odd Fellows number in the aggregate at least 1,000,000 men. The total revenue in the New World, during the past year approximated $2,500,000, and the disbursements in the same time for relieving the wants of the sick and needy brothers, burying the dead, assisting the widow and educating the orphan, were not far from $800,000. The resources of the I. O. O. F. are probably $50,000,000, and many fine buildings for Lodge and Encampment purposes are owned by the brotherhood.

NOTHING LIKE IT IN MEDICINE.

It has long been claimed that if we knew it, there would be an herb, or a combination of herbs, roots and barks that would cure all the ills human flesh is heir to. Dr. Mishler, with a few of his professional friends, have kept this idea constantly in view, and labored earnestly and perseveringly for years to find this most desirable treasure. Though they have not found an instant cure for all complaints, they have nevertheless discovered a remedy, which, as yet, has never failed in curing Chills and Fever, Dyspepsia, and all diseases arising from any impurity of the blood or disarrangement of the digestive organs, including Liver Complaint, Coughs, Colds, Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, General Debility and all affections of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs.

This great discovery, in honor of the indefatigable labors of Dr. B. Mishler, is called Mishler's Herb Bitters, and wherever introduced takes the place of Quinine and the host of other remedies used heretofore for the complaints mentioned above.

Sold by all Druggists and General Dealers.

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, Feb. 12, 1869.

E. G. Heagy has been chosen First Lieutenant of the "Franklin Zouaves," in room of Thomas Bushman, resigned.

See advertisement of Evans & Co., Reading, Pa., in regard to Best's "Improved Patent Fruit Tree Invigorator and Vine Insect Destroyer."

Advertising is merely making an extension of your shop front in the newspapers. You display your articles in the window where a few hundred see them, and in a newspaper you enumerate what you have for sale, and thousands are thereby attracted to your store.

TAXES.—The Assistant Assessors will soon call upon our citizens for their income and special taxes for the year 1868. By the amendatory act of March 2, 1867, all returns of incomes and special taxes are required to be made by the first day of March, under a penalty of fifty per cent. additional.

TO BE PUBLISHED.—We see it stated that Col. A. K. McClure's letters to the N. Y. Tribune from Montana, in 1867–'68, have under one revision by their author, and will be published next month by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia. The Montana Post pronounces these letters "unquestionably the ablest, most comprehensive and elegant articles that have ever been written on Montana."

LEGISLATIVE.—Among the bills reported in the House last week was one by Dr. Dill authorizing the school directors of Littlestown Adams county, to borrow money.

The bill reported by Mr. Duncan to exempt the trustees of the Pennsylvania College, of Gettysburg, from the payment of collateral inheritance tax, has passed the Senate.

We notice among the petitions presented in Congress last week, was one by our Representative, Hon. Wm. H. Koontz, from the officers and trustees of Pennsylvania College, at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, asking that the bequest of David Pearson, late of the city of Philadelphia, to said college for the endowment of a professorship in said college be exempt from the legacy or succession tax thereon under existing laws.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Friday afternoon last, Mr. Jacob Shoemaker, Sen., residing about one mile from Sell's Mill in Frederick county, Md., went to another farm a short distance from the one on which he lives, to attend to some stock. Not returning, as was expected, some of the family went to look after him and found him, about 9 o'clock, in the barn dead. He was a respectable and well-to-do farmer, owning two farms, aged about 66 years. He had been subject to attacks of vertigo, and it is supposed died of apoplexy.

IMPROVEMENTS IN NEW OXFORD.—Since the railroad has been completed, the march of improvement has been progressing in this pleasant and beautiful village as we have noticed from time to time. At the present time there are in course of erection several new houses—one by Mr. Heltzel, our late Assemblyman; a fine store house and dwelling just completed by Mr. Miller, druggist; a shoe shop by Mr. Nagle, and several new buildings completed last fall. Mr. Hoke is about modernizing his present residence, and so with other buildings. There are several new buildings in contemplation for this spring in New Oxford.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—On Tuesday evening last, the following persons were installed as officers of "Geary Lodge No. 302 I. O. G. T.," located in Petersburg, Y. S., by James J. Metcalfe, L. D., viz:—W. C. T., James C. Johns; W. V. T., E. S. Sadler; W. S., S. E. Wampler; W. A. S., S. V. Hiteshew; W. F. S., R. W. Sadler; R. H. S., Clara J. Myers; L. H. S., Emma L. Wolford; W. C., J. F. Gardner; W. T., Moses Vanscoyoc; W. M., C. H. Peters; W. D. M., Mollie J. Myers; W. J. G., Mollie E. Sheetz; W. O. G., Peter Griest.

The Good Templars are Temperance organizations, and we understand that the Lodge in Petersburg is in a flourishing condition, large in numbers, embracing excellent material, and influential.

MISS CROUCH'S LECTURE, on Tuesday night, drew out a fair audience. Miss C. belongs to the class of "strong-minded" women, who fault the present dispensation of things—don't believe that the special prerogative of woman is baby-tending and household management—dispute the right of the "lords of creation" to monopolize political power, and demand that the right of voting, holding office, making laws, and general participation in governmental and business affairs, be thrown open to competition, irrespective of sex. Selecting as her theme "Wisdom and Folly," the lecturer made a number of sharp points on the fashions and follies of the day, both sexes coming in for a full share of sarcasm. The present system of female education, more especially the social aspect of it, was strongly denounced. Miss C. is a pleasant talker, and upon the whole made a favorable impression.

Jacob Raffensperger has also purchased the house of Jesse B. Spahr, in Arendtsville, at $1,900; also 9 acres adjoining the town, at $62 50 an acre. Also, 4 acres and 140 perches, of Widow Wolf, at $480.

They have since sold off, to Lewis Noel, 30 acres, without improvements, at $50 per acre; and to Messrs. Sterner and Fowler 46 acres, with improvements, at $50 per acre.

John McMaster has purchased 45 acres, without improvements, from Adam Hartlaub, Jr., in Mountpleasant township, at $20 per acre.

John Coshun has sold his property in Mountpleasant township, 12 acres, with improvements, to John A. Lohr for $3350 cash.

Trostle, from near Abbottstown, for $3500; 31 acres cleared and 7 acres wood-land, to Adam Hartlaub, for $1580; and 20 acres cleared land to Rev. Basil Shorb for $500; the portion purchased by Mr. Hartlaub has since changed hands, and the cleared land is now owned in part by Rev. Basil Shorb, part by Dr. A. Noel, and part by Peter Wagaman; the wood land part by Charles Crosta, part by James Shanebrook, and part by Samuel Lawrence. Rev. Mr. Shorb has also since sold the 20 acres purchased of Eckert, part to Mr. Kuhns, and part to David Sneeriger.

Jacob Heagy has sold a tract of woodland in Menallen township, 4 acres and 15 perches, to John W. Fidler, at $50 per acre; also about 6 acres of the home farm in Butler township, to J. H. Bowers, at $50 per acre.

COURT DOINGS.—The Jury in the case of Edward Tully vs Isaac B. Houser, (on trial when we went to press last week,) rendered a verdict for the full amount of Plaintiff's claim, $91.93. Although the amount involved was small, the case involved legal principles of a good deal of importance, and the time of the Court was occupied for nearly two days in the citation of authorities and the argument of legal points. Plaintiff while intoxicated deposited $82 with a man named McClain, alleged to be a bar keeper for defendant. McClain absconded the same night, with the money, and Plff. brought suit to recover the amount thus deposited. The proof went to show that McClain was not employed as bar-keeper, but was a boarder in the house, and occasionally tended the bar in Mr. Houser's absence. On the evening when Tully made the deposit, Houser was absent and McClain had access to the bar, the keys of the drawer, and sold liquor to Tully and others. A number of points were submitted to the court by counsel on both sides, involving the responsibilities of Inn-keepers.—Judge Fisher, in answering these points ruled in substance that Inn-keepers are responsible to guests for money or goods deposited with employees or agents, or brought to the house; that if McClain was permitted to have access to the bar and by his acts give out the impression to strangers that he was an employee, the landlord was liable for the money deposited with McClain—unless the Jury were satisfied that Tully knew that McClain was not the bar-keeper, and with such knowledge deposited the money with him as an individual, and not as bar-keeper or on the credit of the house. The defence undertook so to satisfy the Jury but failed, as their verdict was for Plaintiff.

The following cases additional to those reported last week, were disposed of:

Michael Hoffman vs. Francis J. Wilson —Ejectment. Judgment that Plaintiff recover the premises mentioned in the suit, to be released upon the Defendant's paying $1,173.75, and costs of suit.

George J. Weaver vs. Mary Weaver.—Libel by husband for Divorce, on the ground that the wife committed adultery with B. L. Shelly, a correspondent of one of the New York papers. Divorce decreed, and the respondent directed to pay the costs.

Christian Kechler and Wife vs. Philip Bittinger, and John F. Houck Executor of Jacob Fiddler, deceased. Action in Ejectment. Fiddler's Will gave to Mrs. Kechler "two fields" and "Woodland north of them." Defendants undertook to show that the devise had been satisfied by surveying off and setting apart the "two fields" and certain woodland; but Plaintiffs claim that the devise covered 3 acres and 161 perches of woodland additional to that surveyed off, and bring suit to recover the same. The case was tried at November term, but the Jury failed then to agree, and it was put down for trial last week. It occupied the balance of the week, and late on Saturday night the Jury rendered a verdict for the Plaintiffs.

INGENIOUS AND SERVICEABLE ARTICLE.—During a recent visit to the Wareroom of Col. C. H. Buehler, opposite the depot, on Carlisle street, our attention was attracted to a combined "Press and Strainer," recently patented by H. Littlefield, of Boston, which ought to be in every family. Yankee ingenuity, which is generally supposed to be equal to any required effort, has been to work to get up a Press and Strainer for every day use in the Kitchen and Dairy, and the result is this little machine, which by a very simple arrangement of assorted meshes and lever, can be used equally well for pressing and straining lard, tallow, grapes, currants, tomatoes, apples, pumkins, squashes, berries, jellies, jams, dutch or curd cheese, soups, indeed any thing that requires mashing and straining. It seems to be the very thing needed in every family. The beauty of it is that it is a light portable machine, weighing five or six pounds only, and can be set on the pantry shelf ready for daily use, or stowed away in the cup-board, occupying but little space. There are two sizes, one costing $2, the other $3. We advise housekeepers to examine the article. Col. Buehler is the Agent for this county.

ANOTHER.—We don't know that there is any limit to Yankee inventive genius. We have been shown another ingenious instrument, called the "Carpet-strecher and Tack-driver." It is about the size of an ordinary tack-lifter, but has a claw for stretching carpets and a magnetized rod of iron adjusted in a socket with a spring. The magnet lifts the tack, adjusts it in the socket and in one operation the carpet is streched to its position and the tack driven home. A child or blind man can use it, and it costs but 50 cents. Col. Buehler is also Agent for this article.

BOLD MURDER.—A few weeks ago, Charles M. Rogers, a prominent and respectable citizen of New York City, was brutally murdered in front of his residence about 7 o'clock in the morning. A colored boy passing along the street saw the murder, and states that two men came along the opposite side, when the smaller of the two, deliberately taking off his overcoat and handing it to the larger, crossed the street to where Mr. Rogers was—the larger remarking, "Jim, don't do it."—The villain grasped Mr. Roger's gold watch and chain, and he resisting, the assailant drew a knife and plunged it into Mr. R., causing his death some hours after. The villains then made their escape. All this took place in broad day light, in a fashionable part of the city, and notwithstanding the offer of heavy rewards by the Mayor and family of the deceased, the detectives have thus far been at fault. Some 20 or 30 noted characters, going by the name of "Jim" and answering to the description given by the colored boy and Mr. Rogers, have been arrested from time to time, but in most cases have proved alibis. No murder in New York for years has excited so much feeling. The high character of the deceased—the time, place and circumstances of the murder—make it peculiarly audacious. Mr. Rogers was a brother-in-law of Mr. Shepard Stammers, of this place.

SMALL POX.—As this disease has appeared in various parts of the country, with unusual malignancy, we copy the following items from a late number of Hall's Journal of Health:

1. Infantile vaccination is an almost perfect safeguard until the fourteenth year.

2. At the beginning of fourteen the system gradually loses its capability of resistance until about twenty-one, when many persons become almost as liable to small pox as if they had not been vaccinated.

3. The liability remains in full force until about forty-two, when the susceptibility begins to decline, and continues for seven years to grow less and less, becoming extinct at about fifty, the period of life when the general revolution of the body begins to take place, during which the system yields to decay, or takes a new lease of life, for two or three terms of seven years each.

4. The great practical use to be made of these statements is—let every youth be revaccinated on entering fourteen. Let several attempts be made, so as to be certain of safety. As the malady is more liable to prevail in cities during winter, special attention is invited to this subject at this time.

KICKED BY A HORSE.—On Monday evening, the 25th ult., Francis Smith, aged about 14 years, son of Mr. George Smith, of Mountpleasant township, whilst taking the horses to water, was kicked by one of them immediately above the right eye, fracturing the skull. The boy was rendered insensible, and continued in a comatose state for three days. Dr. T. O. Kinzer was called in and gave the case unremitting attention; and, we are glad to say, the patient is now out of danger.—Compiler.

GREAT SURPRISE.—We were astonished the other day in passing Arnold's old corner. Norris has changed his base to this corner, and is surprising every body that visits him by his large and cheap stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c., &c. Give him a call. tf.

FARMER'S COLUMN.—On our fourth page we give from week to week articles intended especially for the Farmer and Housekeeper. In to-day's issue will be found a readable communication on "Deep Ploughing," from one of our most intelligent Farmers, from whom we shall be glad to hear frequently. Well matured suggestons on practical Agricultural matters are always welcome, and we feel assured that such an interchange and comparison of views by practical Agriculturalists, in the columns of the county paper, would be productive of much good. The articles need not necessarily be confined to one subject; the greater the range of topics the better. Let it be Deep Ploughing, Stock Raising, Fertilizers, Fruit Growing, Grape Culture, or any of the important topics in these days pressing on the attention of wide-a-wake Agriculturalists. Our columns will always be open to well-matured suggestions on any of these topics.

LOSS.—Last week we briefly annouced the destruction by fire of Mr. Charles H. Buhrman's Store in Liberty township on the morning of the 2d inst. A note from Mr. B. informs us that his loss is $500 on the building and $2700 on Goods, making about $3200. The origin of the fire is not known. When discovered about daylight it had made too much progress to save any thing. Mr. B. is insured in the Adams County Mutual Company for $2300—$300 on building and $2000 on on goods. The company has sufficient capital on hand to pay without resort to assessment.

ANSWER TO PROBLEM.

Messrs. Editors:—I have been working out the Problem given in your paper of Jan. 23, and herewith present the answer, which I suppose is correct—the two men will meet at a point distant from Baltimore 20 miles, 1,005 yards, 2 feet, 1 5-7 inches; or 39 miles, 754 yards, 10 2-7 inches from Gettysburg. If not correct, advise me and I will try again.

In the mean time, I submit another Problem, and would like to hear some of the readers of your paper solve it, viz.:—I gave John $1 with which to buy 100 eggs. He paid ½ cent each for hen eggs, 2 cents for duck eggs, and 3 cents for goose eggs. He returned with 100 eggs. How many of each did he buy with the $1? H. H. P.

REMOVED.—Mr. George A. Codori has put up a new building adjoining his residence on West Middle street, specially arranged for a Meat Market, unto which he removed his establishment yesterday. He is snugly and comfortably fixed, and will keep on hand at all hours the best quality of Fresh and Salt Meats. Mr. C. is clever and accommodating, and will be glad to have the public visit his establishment.

HEAD QUARTERS REMOVED.—Capt. Norris, has removed his store to Arnold's Corner, next door to the 1st National Bank, where you will find one of the best and cheapest Stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, and Shoes, and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods of every discription, in the county. He is selling Winter Clothing at greately reduced prices to make room for Spring Goods. If you want a Bargain go to Norris' corner. All kinds of Men's and Boy's Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, as cheap as before the War. If you don't believe this, call and be convinced.—Don't forget the place. tf.

THE MORNING GLORY.—Col. C. H. Buehler has received a large assortment of these famous base-burning Stoves, which on the score of economy, cleanliness, easy management, and general utility stand unrivalled and defy competition. The great demand for them last season taxed the capacity of the Manufacturers to meet the demand. They are much improved and will doubtless ere long take the place of all other stoves for parlor, office store and shop. Call and look at them, at the Wareroom on corner of Carlisle and Railroad street, opposite the depot.

Also, on hand a full assortment of the best varieties of COOKING STOVES, including the Spear, Noble Cook, Waverly, Oriental, Washing, Barley Sheaf, Prince Royal, Royal Cook, Excelsior, &c. &c., all warranted to be good bakers. If not satisfactory, they can be returned and the money refunded. Also, a large assortment of Hollow Ware and Tin Ware, Doty's Washing Machine and Universal Wringer. Call and examine. tf Aim at perfection in everything, though in most things it is unattained; however, they who aim at it, and persevere, will come much nearer to it than those whose laziness and despondency make them give it up as unattainable.

The above is particularly applicable to the subject of health—all should do everything in their power to attain perfection, as near as possible, in that. This can be secured by a regular and continued use of the Zingari Bitters. It

C! C! C!—Norris will, after the 1st day of January sell all kinds of Winter Clothing at greatly redued prices—Over Coats as low as $4.00, Cavalry Over Coats at $6.25, Infantry Over Coats $5.25, and all other Winter goods at greatly reduced prices, to make room for Spring goods. tf

FARMERS, Fruit Growers & Gardners.

Best's "Improved Patent Fruit Tree Invigorator and Vine Insect Destroyer."

THIS is truly one of the greatest discoveries ever made—combining the most useful ingredients ever known for fruit, grain and general vegetation. As a fertilizer, it has no equal. When applied to the tree it penetrates every pore—destroying every species of insect, and the worm in the heart of the tree or plant,—connecting with the mineral substance of the earth, destroys the cause and prevents the creation of any destructive insect. It will prevent Curculio from stinging the plum. It will destroy the peach grub. It will loosen the knot and old bark on the vine and tree—slough off the same and re-bark the stock. In a word, it re-invigorates the whole tree and gives it health and strength to withstand the severity of the weather and retain its fruit. It will destroy all insects which infest the pot-flowers, cucumbers, potatoes, tomatoes, plants, &c. and stimulate their growth. It will prevent weevil, mildew, rust or the fly from touching the wheat, and the cut worm from the corn. It is now extensively used in the Western States, and persons who use it would not be without it for one thousand times its value. No man who has a single fruit tree can afford to be without it. Upon application, we will refer to persons who are using it in Berks county, and would not take $1000 for their recipe, we will give residence and address. The undersigned have purchased the sole right to use, sell and apply the Invigorator, within the counties of York, Cumberland, Adams, Franklin, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Lehigh and Philadelphia City and county, and are now prepared to sell townships or county rights. Persons who have purchased townships have made as high as $50 to $100 per day selling farm rights at from $5 to $10 per recipe.

The public are notified to purchase no right of J. Ahearn, alias Geo. W. Jackson, of Baltimore, Md. as we will prosecute to the utmost extent, all who buy from him to sell or use. The sole right for the above territory is owned by us. Ahearn never saw Best's Improved Patent, and knows nothing of its ingredients. Our right was obtained from the patentee, Mr. Best—who is now prosecuting Ahearn in the Baltimore Courts for fraud. EVANS & CO.

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD

ARE NOW COMPLETED.

As 500 miles of the western portion of the line, beginning at Sacramento, are also done, but

267 MILES REMAIN

To be Finished, to Open the Grand Through Line to the Pacific. This Opening will certainly take place early this season.

Besides a donation from the Government of 12,800 acres of land per mile, the Company is entitled to a subsidy in U. S. Bonds on its line as completed and accepted, at the average rate of about $26,500 per mile, according to the difficulties encountered, for which the Government takes a second lien as security. Whether subsidies are given to any other companies or not, the Government will comply with all its contracts with the Union Pacific Railroad Company. Nearly the whole amount of bonds to which the Company will be entitled have already been delivered.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

AT PAR.

By its charter, the Company is permitted to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS to the same amount as the Government Bonds, and no more. These Bonds are a First Mortgage upon the entire road and all its equipments.

THEY HAVE THIRTY YEARS TO RUN, AT SIX PER CENT., and both

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST

ARE

PAYABLE IN GOLD.

Such securities are generally valuable in proportion to the length of time they have to run. The longest six per cent. gold interest bonds of the U. S. (the '81's) will be due in 12 years, and they are worth 112. If they had 30 years to run, they would stand at not less than 125. A perfectly safe First Mortgage Bond like the Union Pacific should approach this rate. The demand for European investment is already considerable, and on the completion of the work will doubtless carry the price to a large premium.

SECURITY OF THE BONDS.

It needs no argument to show that a First Mortgage of $26,500 per mile upon what for a long time must be the only railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States is PERFECTLY SECURE. The entire amount of the mortgage will be about $30,000,000, and the interest $1,500,000 per annum in gold. The present currency cost of this interest is less than $2,500,000 per annum, while the gross earnings for the year 1868, FROM WAY BUSINESS ONLY, ON AN AVERAGE OF LESS THAN 700 MILES OF ROAD IN OPERATION, WERE MORE THAN

FIVE MILLION DOLLARS,

The details of which are as follows:

From Passengers	$1,024,005.97
" Freight	2,040,233.19
" Express	51,423.08
" Mails	136,235.59
" Miscellaneous	91,626.27
" Government troops	104,077.77
" " freight	449,440.33
" Contractors' men	201,179.09
" " material	966,430.32
Total	$5,065,651.61

This large amount is only an indication of the immense traffic that must go over the through line in a few months, when the great tide of Pacific coast travel and trade will begin. It is estimated that this business must make the earnings of the road from FIFTEEN TO TWENTY MILLIONS A YEAR.

As the supply of these Bonds will soon cease, parties who desire to invest in them will find it for their interest to do so at once. The price for the present is par and accrued interest from Jan. 1, in currency.

Saved by clubbing to together and buying COTTON CLOTH, DRESS GOODS, WOOLLEN GOODS, HOSIERY, BLANKETS, SHAWLS, &c., &c., together with BOOTS and SHOES, BOOKS, CUTLERY, SILVER-PLATED WARE, CASTORS, FANCY GOODS, &c., of

EASTMAN & KENDALL,
65 HANOVER STREET BOSTON, MASS.,
LICENSED WHOLESALE DEALERS BY THE U. S. ESTABLISHED 1864.

"The goods sold by us are described in printed slips or checks, which are sent to any address at the rate of ten cents each, in clubs of ten, twenty, thirty, forty, sixty, one hundred, one hundred and fifty, two hundred, &c. For a dollar the receiver can buy the article described in the check, or exchange it for any one of two or three hundred other articles in our circular. As a guarantee of the worth of every article sold by us, any article on our checks can be exchanged for a White Bed Quilt or a Silver Plated Revolving Table Caster, with Five Bottles. Read what the great paper of the Northwest, the Toledo Blade (Na by's paper,) says of us:

"WHAT WE SAW AT THE HUB.—Curiosity led us, while recently in Boston, to visit the dollar establishment of Messrs. EASTMAN & KENDALL. Their trade has become so immense that they now occupy four stories in the elegant block No 65 Hanover Street. The name of this firm has become as 'familiar as household words' throughout the Middle and Western States, while as prompt and honorable business men they are endorsed by the best firms in their own city. Their Club system of selling goods has done more, we believe, during the past few years to keep down the prices of domestic articles in every day use, than all other influences combinded. Most of their goods are manufactured expressly for them, as for instance, cutlery made to their order in Sheffield, England, and imported in large quantities for their dollar trade alone."

Now is the time to get signers and send in clubs.—Ladies specially wanted as agents.

Partial list of articles allowed as commission to any one sending in clubs:—

It is impossible to give a complete list of goods, but Agents desiring articles not named above, will please mention them, and we will accommodate them if possible. If you have a club ready, or intend to raise one for any other house, don't fail to send it to us, and at the same time ask for our New Circular and Mammoth Exchange List. Parties acting as agents for other dollar houses in this city, will please send us their address, and that of a dozen or so of their male and female friends, as we can make it for their advantage to do so. Male and female agents wanted as usual.

SEND MONEY IN REGISTERED LETTERS in every instance, and we guarantee that it will come perfectly safe.

DEEP PLOUGHING.

The most interesting column to me, of your most valuable paper, is the one you devote to agricultural articles. I feel when sitting all alone by my chimney corner these cold winter evenings reading it over, as though some intelligent neighbors were sitting by my side conversing with me upon this most interesting topic; and knowing that the only way to sustain you in your kind efforts to make it interesting, is for us farmers not only to sit by and listen to our neighbors, but occasionally contribute our own mite.

The subject that I have chosen for my first effort has been so thoroughly ventilated, that you will wonder why I have selected it. You will say that every intelligent farmer agrees that we ought to plough deep, but nevertheless I assure you there are many who do not plough deep enough, because they are like a certain horse doctor whom I saw sometime ago giving a dose of salts to his patient. I asked him what was the matter with the horse, and he replied he did not know. I then asked him why he gave the horse salts, and his answer was because it was good for him.

Now this is perhaps the only reason that many farmers can give for ploughing deep. We will admit the fact contained in this answer, because it is a fact; but as likely to have been a fiction if not sustained by some proof; and try to produce proof that deep ploughing is not only good, but absolutely necessary to produce good crops.

We will select the corn crop as our example, and as the same principles will hold good in all others, this one will be sufficient.

Two farmers, A and P plough their ground at the same time. A ploughs four inches deep and B ploughs eight inches deep; both plant at the same time and through the summer work their corn alike. So far neither has any advantage over the other, but there is something to be trusted to Providence and we will see which one it favors.

"All bodies have not an equal capacity for radiating heat, but some cool much more rapidly and perfectly than others. Hence it follows that with the same exposure, some bodies will be densely covered with dew, while others will remain perfectly dry.—Grass, the leaves of trees, wood, &c. radiate heat very freely; but polished metals, smooth stones, and woolen cloth, part with their heat slowly; the former of these substances will therefore be completely drenched with dew, while the latter, in the same situations, will be almost dry."

The surfaces of rocks and barren lands are so compact and hard; that they can neither absorb nor radiate much heat; and (as their temperature varies but slightly) little dew is deposited upon them.—Deeply cultivated soils, on the contrary (being loose and porus) very freely radiate by night the heat they absorb by day; in consequence of which they are much cooled down and plentifully condense the vapor of the air into dew. Such a condition of things is a remarkable evidence of design on the part of the Creator, since every plant and inch of land which need the moisture of the dew, are adapted to collect it; but not a single drop is wasted where its refreshing moisture is not required. Dew is always formed upon the surface of the material upon which it is found and does not fall from the atmosphere.

Now, the above being established facts, is there any difficulty in predicting which of the crops of A and B is most likely to endure the intense and withering heats of summer and most likely to "fill in the ear" and produce a good yield?

I could say much more upon this subject but feeling that I have already trespassed further than propriety may permit, I will not tire you by giving any of the thousand and other reasons for deep, very deep ploughing. FARMER.

[From the Hearth and Home.

SURE CURE FOR BOTS IN HORSES.—Take half a pint each of vinegar, soft-soap, gin, and molasses, shake well together, and pour down the animal's throat while the mixture is foaming.

FODDER OF MILCH COWS.—A Maine farmer, after many trials, says he gets the most milk, and the best butter when he feeds his cows sweet corn, cut green and well cured in the shock.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER.—A cask of lime slacked in water, a bushel of salt added, and ashes, or fine green mould, enough worked in to make five barrels in all.—Throw half a pint in a hill at planting.

CIRCULIO PROOF PLUMS.—There are two kinds of plums which are claimed to be quite proof against the ravages of the circulio—the Columbia and Hinckley. In the former, the circulio deposits its egg as in other plums, but when the larvæ are hatched, they are generally drowned by an unusual flow of juice. In the Hinckley, the eggs never hatch out, and when the crop is abundant a considerable proportion of the plums wholly escape being stung.

POISONOUS POTATOES.—The sprouts of the potato contain an akaloid, termed by chemists solanine, which is very poisonous if taken into the system. This does not exist in the tubers, unless they are exposed to the light and air, which sometimes occurs from the accidental removal of the earth in cultivation. A potato that shows a blackish-green tint on one side should never be cooked for the table or fed to stock.

DURHAMS AND DEVONS VS. ALDERNEYS.—A correspondent of the American Stock Journal asserts that Durham and Devon Cows can be relied upon for a good yield of milk only for a brief period, in the most favorable part of the season. The Alderney, on the other hand, will yield a full pail throughout the summer; and care is often required to insure the usual drying up for a proper interval before calving.

FEEDING WHOLE CORN TO CATTLE.—It is an expensive system of management to feed whole grains to any kind of animals. All kinds of certain grains are provided with a tough hull or skin, which the digestive powers of most animals will not dissolve; consequently, if the skin is not broken before the grain enters the stomach, the kernels will pass off with the droppings without affording the animal that swallowed the grain any more nourishment than fragments of wood of equal size.

During the month of August last, the writer procured a quantity of horse manure for top-dressing strawberry plants, and in a few days after the mulch was spread around the plants the unbroken kernels of oats vegetated, so that the entire surface of the ground appeared as green as a lawn. This fact showed conclusively that much of the grain had never afforded the animals that swallowed them any nourishment at all.—Young horses having sound and sharp teeth will sometimes crush every kernel. But old horses with poor teeth frequently swallow half their mess of oats without breaking the skin of the kernel.

When mills are at a distance, and people will persist in feeding whole grain, it will always be found more advantage to soak the grain at least twenty-four hours before using it. Suppose, for example, a teamster is accustomed to feed a team eight quarts of Indian corn and oats at each feeding, say three times a day. Let the grain be put in a pail and covered with warm water every time the team is fed. This plan would require three pails when the team is fed three times a day. Warm water is far better than cold water, as cold water in cold weather will soften the grain but little. Teamsters may rest assured that it will pay well for all grain before feeding it.—*N. Y. AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for useful ness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but no harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or traveling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world

THE GREAT

Invigorator and Restorer

OF THE

Vitality of the Stomach.

Prepared from Pure Vegetable Materials.

Pure Tonics and the most Pleasant Aromatics.

This invaluable Remedy for Dyspepsia and General Debility of the system is offered to the public, after a fair trial of its merits, with entire confidence that it will command their approval. It has been submitted, with the materials which compose it, to practising Physicians—among others to Dr. M. D. G. PFEIFFER, one of our oldest and most eminent Physicians, residing at New Oxford, who, after examination, pronounced it a Remedy which would not fail to show its salutary effects, when properly administered, in cases of Dyspepsia, springing from old age and debilitating affects of serious inward diseases—weakening, and at last destroying the nervous power of the stomach itself—and therefore entitling it to be emphatically called "The Great Invigorator."

Dr. W. J. McCLURE, another prominent Physician of New Oxford, thus gives his opinion:

NEW OXFORD, Dec. 30, 1866.

Mr. JOHN BUSHEY.

Dear Sir:—At your request I have examined "The Great Invigorator," prepared by you, and the formula from which it is prepared. It is composed of some of the most powerful vegetable tonics and most pleasant aromatics known to our profession, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it in Chronic cases of Dyspepsia, and in all cases of Indigestion resulting from debility of the Stomach. Believing that, if properly used, it will be of incalculable benefit to the suffering of our race, I subscribe myself

Yours, very respectfully,
W. J. McCLURE, M. D.

J. H. SHIREMAN'S

REAPERS & MOWERS.

HAVING been agent for this machine last season, I also offer it to the farmer this season. It is well known, having taken the premium at the Bendersville Fair, also at the Gettysburg Mowing Match—over seven others, which were considered splendid machines, and likewise at the Dillsburg Mowing Match. Having concluded not to offer any machine that will not give entire satisfaction, I have refused agencies of several other machines, and now offer this one as

THE GREAT MACHINE OF THE SEASON.

Having tried one myself, I know exactly what it will do. I could refer you to scores of farmers who have purchased machines of me, who are highly pleased and say this is the only machine they would use.

Extras always on hand, and repairing done here at my place. This is a great consideration—the machine can be repaired at home immediately, and with much less cost.

Another great saving is the BINDER which is attached to this celebrated Reaper and Mower. It has been thoroughly tried, and given entire satisfaction—requiring no harvest hand except a driver. This Binder can also be attached to the Reapers which have been sold; but cannot be attached to any other machine except Shireman's.

I will here refer you to a few farmers, in different localities, who have bought and used these machines

Michael Fiscel,	Stephen Gettier,
Moses Hartman,	Mr. Sterner,
Joseph Wierman,	Mr. Linn,
Ulrich Jacobs,	J. R. Hershey
Jacob Hartman,	B. B. Woodburn
Jacob Laman,

with others, too numerous to mention

This machine has a self-rake, side delivery, and is warranted to do its work as above recommended.

Also on hand, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, a first-rate article, which we will sell at the lowest possible price. Warranted to give satisfaction. Also the COLUMBIA RAKE always on hand.

Machines can be seen at my house, three miles south of Gettysburg, or at Mr. Conrad Snyder's Battlefield Hotel.

A Word to the Wise!

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Renner's Chemical Fertilizer!

THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S surpasses all others in adaptedness to all kinds of soil, I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders for it promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but

Chemical Fertilizer

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED

by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it to be the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver

In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for $50 per ton without bags, or $55 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.

THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER

is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for one. It contains sufficient animal matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the ammonia forces the growth. I expect to manufacture a large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give it a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.

CAUTION.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold unless signed by me, are infringements on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no appeal.

☞All orders will be promptly attended to by addressing
